Saying Good bye to Host Families

On the 13th day, it was the day when the students left their host families' house. Each host family took them to the study centers in the morning. Both the students and their host families were crying, showing a sorrowful feeling.

The bus left for the hotel where they stayed on the first day and it took about two hours to get there. 101 students got together at the hotel and they were pleased that they met classmates again.

Visiting UCLA and Santa Monica

After getting brief information, all the students visited UCLA together. UCLA is a very famous university in the U.S. and even in the world. The university was huge and beautiful. They had lunch on campus and bought some goods of the university at the book store. Then, they visited Santa Monica, where there were many stores, and they enjoyed shopping. They bought a lot of souvenirs for their friends and families.

After that, they came back to the hotel and had dinner. Then, they went back to their rooms and packed their stuff and leave the U.S. for Japan tomorrow. They will spend the last night in the U.S. with their group members.
